Our Team

The CSI approach to providing more often than not low-key personal protection. This sets it apart from other companies in the industry. We believe that personal protection should encompass more than a presence.

Our personnel are trained to be interactive facilitators; to professionally ensure that all aspects of the client's protection and security are addressed. Our attention to detail ensures that the principal is neither embarrassed nor inconvenienced..

Being Discreet

Agents reflect quality experience from respected details in the private or government communities. The protection details that we provide are generally low profile. We recognize that in a corporate and private environment being discreet and unobtrusive is paramount. Our agents have good common sense and are well versed in etiquette and political change. They present a professional image, are familiar with the responsibilities of a personal assistant, and recognize and respect the intimate nature of the assignment.

We also provided low-key additional personnel when needed to watch the back of visible security personnel and the principal. The identities of these sleeper cells are known only to the executive protection team and they operate close enough to both the principal and the team that they are able to act quickly while others watch from a distance.
